Shilog

About

Shilog is a HUBZone, Woman-Owned Small Business, dedicated to providing a wide array of quality medical products since 1983. From our headquarters, located in McAlester, Oklahoma, we have supplied our federal customers with a wide variety of products. Through its partnership with WaterTech, Inc., Shilog has expanded its product offerings to include the management and application of water and wastewater treatment products (chemical, biological, and mechanical solutions) and services. Together, Shilog and WaterTech recognize the environmental impact water treatment programs and the waste produced in the water treatment industry can have for our customers. We make every effort to be a good steward with four key initiatives that describe our commitment to provide environmentally responsible and economically profitable water treatment solutions:

- Commitment to provide environmentally friendly and less hazardous chemistry options including biodegradable, non-toxic, and naturally derived products
- Partnership with manufacturers that use renewable raw materials whenever possible and employ manufacturing processes that minimize the use and generation of hazardous substances
- Actively participate in our customers' green initiatives to reduce the impact their business has on the environment
- Help our customers operate more sustainably, increasing their energy efficiencies, by-product reduction/recovery, and water recovery/re-use

Shilog's focus has always been to provide top quality products and fast delivery to its customers.

With quality and customer satisfaction being our main goal, our mission is to:

- Provide unsurpassed service to customers
- To deliver top quality medical and wastewater treatment supplies to our customers
- Maintain one of the shortest "order to delivery" times in the industry.
